

WASHINGTON CITY.

GENERAL W. H. F. LEE CONGRATULATED ON HIS GRAND VICTORY.

Noble Successor of the Republic to the Constitution--No Extra Session--Senator D. R. Hill.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, November 6.—General W. H. F. Lee, who kept the Eighth congressional district of Virginia on Tuesday, beating Frank Hume by nearly three thousand votes, was in the city to-day and was warmly congratulated by his numerous friends over his magnificent victory. General Lee thinks that the attempt to pass the force bill and other revolutionary tactics of the Republicans in Congress had much to do with the unprecedented success of the Democracy, but the tariff also had an effect upon the result. He thinks that the country simply made up its mind to have nothing more to do with the men who attempted to trample the Constitution under foot and who robbed Democrats of their seats in the House.

DEVELOPED HUME.

Frank Hume appears to have learned little by the crushing defeat that was administered to him in the Eighth district if he is correctly quoted in a newspaper interview this morning. He claims that the Democrats bought up the negro votes in the district and voted in the district for General Lee. He says that a firm belief here that Hume attempted to buy enough votes to elect himself to Congress, but he made a dismal failure, and nothing but contempt could be expressed for a man who made such a sorry record of himself. He then turns around and charges the Democratic leaders with doing things that he knows were not even necessary. The trouble with poor, deluded Frank Hume is that he made a gigantic mistake in running as a better man. He is done for politically, and the poor fellow thinks that he had better stick to business and give up politics.

NOTHING SAVED HIM FROM DEFEAT.

The bulletins received this morning and all through the day kept increasing the majority that the Democrats will have in the next House until the average non-slaveholder wondered where the third round vote was. General Lee's main headquarters, in Ohio, was standing in front of one of the newspaper offices, and when he read the latest return from "Bleeding" Kansas showing that the Republicans had lost nearly everything in that State, he said, "I think as though we had saved nothing out of the wreck but old Tom Reed." Some of the Democrats standing around the bulletin-board here to-day to hope that the majority for their party in the House would not grow any more, but as again after getting the return they concluded that it was just as well to take the whole victory, though there will hardly be enough Republicans in the next House to enable the minority to make a feeble protest.

WELL BE LOST IN THE HALL.

In fact, the Republicans will be so scarce that they will be lost in the hall. The Democrats will split the vote of the non-slaveholders, and the large number of the vote on the left. In making up the committees for the next House it will become necessary for the Speaker to cut down the Republican representation for the reason that there are not enough Democrats to fill the House and if we are assigned to each committee, as has been the custom, it would place the minority members on so many committees that they could not attend all of the meetings.

THE HOUSE PROPORTION THIS.

It will be remembered that when Colonel O'Ferrall, of Virginia, was fighting all alone in the House, he was fighting the battle of the Democrats to prevent the brutal enactment of Mr. Venable the Republicans had large photographs made of the scene. Colonel O'Ferrall was pictured as the sole member on the Democratic side, and the Republican side contained the effect that the Democrats were at the old game of "secession." The poor, silly Republicans imagined that these pictures would make magnificent campaign cards, but they were then told that the pictures were nothing but a caricature of the Democrats. Now they wish they had not sent out these pictures, for whenever a Democrat meets a Republican he is shown the photographs, and with a chuckle adds: "The people took a look at your picture, and they have more than filled the empty seats on the Democratic side."

DEFEAT OF LANSBURY'S FRIENDS.

It will be great consolation to the people of Virginia to know that the defeat of Illinois has been defeated. He is the chairman of the House Committee on Education, and he was not able to force the Langston contest which robbed Mr. Venable of the seat to which the people of the Fourth district had elected him. It was Rowell more than any other Republican who insisted that the Virginia bill should be reported. He was not able to get the scalp of that North Carolina Radical, Hanger, in Wisconsin, a though he has heretofore had a tremendous majority behind him. Hanger may rage the Langston case on the floor, and if after the bill had been passed, he would have an arm in arm with a dead wit, a professional negro to the desk, and almost hugged him when he was seen in it. It also looks as if Kelley had also been moved under. He is another Republican who went into estates when Langston was given the seat. The chickens have been coming home to roost in all parts of the country.

DEFEAT OF McCOMAS.

One of the most glorious of all the grand victories is the crushing defeat of McComas in Maryland. It was his advocacy of the infamous force bill that caused his defeat, and the papers are repeating the result, and are recasting the memories of a certain Republican by quoting from the uncalculated remarks of McComas when he addressed the House in advocacy of the infamous measure. It would have been grander still if a Hartford Convention had been held in the State of Massachusetts, but his majority has been nearly wiped out and he has been justly rebuked for bringing to the front last session such an infamous measure. The prevailing opinion here at present is that the force bill will not be heard of during the winter session of Congress. Many say that there will be no extra session of Congress, and no one doubts there would be after the cyclone that the Republicans have encountered.

HILL'S GREAT WORK.

Everybody here is talking of the magnificent work that Governor Hill of New York, rendered last year in the recent campaign. It was the brainy and popular Chief Magistrate of the Empire State who went down to New York City a few weeks ago and counseled with the metropolitan leaders in regard to what was their plain duty. He told them that the united Democracy must make a notoriety for Congress, and for the State Legislature, and that then they should elect a Republican. The Governor has about a split office. The Governor has about a split office. The Governor has about a split office.

PROF. KOCH'S CURE.

HIS REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION EXCITING GREAT INTEREST.

He Will Make Public His Method—France and England in Egypt—Other Foreign Notes.

(By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.)

BERLIN, GERM., November 6.—The discovery by Professor Koch, of the Berlin University, of a method for the cure of consumption by inoculation with attenuated tubercular bacilli is exciting the greatest interest among the medical profession and laymen. The National Zeitung, which has devoted considerable space to consideration of the subject, says to-day it is probable that a motion will be introduced in the Prussian Diet looking to the establishment of a bacteriological institute, which will be under the direction of Professor Koch. The Emperor William is deeply interested in the discovery, and he receives frequent reports from Professor Koch regarding the progress he is making in his experiments.

The Professor states he is not desirous of deriving material or personal advantage from the discovery, and says he will make public his method in all its details for the benefit of humanity.

LORD COLERIDGE ILL.

(By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.)

ENGLAND'S Chief Justice Stricken with Rheumatism—Paralysis.

(By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.)

LONDON, ENGL., November 6.—Much excitement was created in the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice to-day by the sudden illness of Lord Coleridge, Lord Chief Justice of England. His Lordship had heard a case in his private room, and though he had complained of feeling ill during the hearing he was able to give a decision in the matter. Directly afterward he was seized with an apoplectic or paralytic stroke. The nearest doctor was in Chancery lane, close to the Law Courts, and he was hastily summoned to attend his Lordship. Other messengers were dispatched to Lord Coleridge's residence, and Lord Coleridge proceeded immediately to the court to render what assistance he could to the stricken husband. His Lordship was placed upon an improvised couch in the ante-room. Other doctors were summoned and are now in attendance upon him. They declare his condition critical.

HUME'S HUMILIATION.

(By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.)

LAUGHING at Washington's Defeat Hume Candidate a Disappointed Man.

(By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.)

ALEXANDRIA, VA., Nov. 6, 1890.

The Democrats of this city, for there are a few true-blue ones left, are endeavoring to explain the crushing defeat of Frank Hume by General Lee. They are attempting to explain his overwhelming defeat by saying that General Lee and the Democrats "bought up all the negroes and poor white people and brought them to the polls in droves to vote the Democratic ticket, and that they spent more money than could be counted in doing so." This is the face of the matter, and the two men know that Frank Hume is by far a wealthier man than General Lee, who has but his salary as a congressman to live upon. Besides this, it is a well-known fact that the Washington merchants contributed largely to Hume's campaign fund, they being desirous to have a man in Congress who would represent Washington city.

HUME'S HUMILIATION.

(By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.)

AS to the bribing of negroes to vote for General Lee the Democrats in this section had but enough money to pay the necessary election expenses, and as there was no money to be had from the negro vote, they paid the expenses and let the negro vote as he pleased. In this city, where nine tenths of the negroes and poor white people voted for Frank Hume, money was never more plentiful than on election day, and it did not get the money from Hume or his representatives, it must have grown on trees, for men who had money last Tuesday were never known to have any more. The charges brought by Mr. Hume against General Lee are, therefore, as false as an angel's dream, and defeated aspirant for honors he could not reach. The defeat of Frank Hume in the back counties is due to the fact that outside of Alexandria city and county he is little known and that the greater portion of the voters in the district cannot read or write, and are easily misled by the guile of an Independent Democrat.

NO MONEY FROM SHEPARD.

(By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.)

THE negroes of Alexandria no longer take any stock in the projected friendship of Deacon Shepard, of the New York Mail and Express, for their race. On the 6th day of July last Simon Lee and two other negroes were fined by Mayor Bowdoin for attempting to induce a riot on the night before, when a negro was killed by the police. When the Mail and Express heard of this "southern outrage" it offered through its columns to pay back the money to the three men who had been fined. The three men, however, refused to accept the money, and the Mayor has since then refused to accept the money. The Mayor has since then refused to accept the money.

LUCAS-TRAVERS.

(By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.)

Mr. Frank Lucas and Miss Lizzy Travers were married last night at the residence of the bride's parents, on lower Duke street. After the ceremony a reception was held and the newly-married couple were the recipients of the well-wishes of their friends.

A pretty November Wedding solemnized in the Duncan-Memorial Chapel.

(Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.)

ASHLAND, November 6, 1890.

The Duncan-Memorial chapel on the college campus was the scene of a very pretty wedding. The spacious edifice was filled with our village folk, and long before the time appointed for the ceremony all the seats were taken. The church was very tastefully arrayed with choice flowers, and about midway up the aisle a dais was covered with roses and chrysanthemums guarded the way to the chancel. At 6:20, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride party entered in the following order:

THE ATTENDANTS.

The ushers, Messrs. Crighton and Armstrong, Ely and Bright, Foster and Martin, the bridesmaids, the maid of honor, Miss Brown and Dudley; then Messrs. Coulson and Hewlett, Dr. Beadles and Mr. Frank Beadles.

THE BRIDE PARTY.

Following were the groom, W. T. Sanders, Esq., of Athens, Ga., and his bride, Miss Anna Sanders, of New York. The bride was preceded by the bride carrying baskets of flowers. The bride, Miss Anna Sanders, on the arm of her father, Rev. R. B. Beadles, followed.

THE GROOM.

The ceremony, performed by Rev. Dr. Kern, assisted by Bishop Langbein, was very short, but most impressive.

A BRIDAL PARTY.

The bride couple left on the 7:20 train for the North, where they will spend their honeymoon preparatory to leaving for Athens, where they will live.

THE GROOM.

Mr. Sanders is a son of Judge Saunders, of Georgia, and one of the most promising young lawyers of that State. The bride is one of our sweetest and most charming young ladies.

THE GROOM.

The costumes were all very handsome. The bride wore a cream satin and lace, trimmed with Fedeia lace, a veil, and orange blossoms, which were brought from the sunny South for the lady. The bridesmaids wore silk, trimmed with lace. The maid of honor wore silk, trimmed with lace. The bridesmaids wore silk, trimmed with lace.
